

The Institutional Repository

Richard Jones, Theo Andrew and John MacColl

CHANDOS PUBLISHING

---

Contents

|                                                              |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Acknowledgements                                      | ix        |
| List of figures                                       | xi        |
| List of tables                                        | xiii      |
| Preface                                               | xv        |
| About the authors                                     | xvii      |
| 1 The institutional repository in the digital library | 1  |
| Digital libraries in a digital world                         | 2         |
| Definition of a 'digital library'                            | 3         |
| Repository locus: institution vs discipline                  | 6         |
| Repositories and digital libraries                           | 8         |
| Repositories of research papers                              | 10        |
| Repositories of other objects                                | 11        |
| What role do institutional repositories play?                | 16        |
| Metadata                                                     | 21        |
| Repositories and research impact                             | 26        |
| Conclusion                                                   | 29        |
| Note                                                         | 30        |
| 2 Establishing a repository                           | 31 |
| The case for a repository                                    | 32        |
| The cost of scholarly journals                               | 33        |
| Costing a repository                                         | 35        |
| Making the case for a repository                             | 40        |
| Securing the innovation                                      | 46        |
| Conclusion                                                   | 49        |

|          |                                                                        |            |
|----------|------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 3 | Technologies and technicalities                                 | 51  |
|          | The nature of institutional repository software                        | 52         |
|          | Defining local requirements                                            | 62         |
|          | OAI-PMH for inter-connectivity: the institutional repository in situ   | 67         |
|          | Evaluation                                                             | 72         |
|          | Digital preservation                                                   | 76         |
|          | Conclusion                                                             | 83         |
|          | Note                                                                   | 84         |
| 4 | Workflow and administration                                     | 85  |
|          | What workflow and administration mean for the institutional repository | 86         |
|          | Examples of workflow and administration                                | 92         |
|          | Administration in the context of the end user                          | 108        |
|          | Conclusion                                                             | 109        |
|          | Note                                                                   | 110        |
| 5 | Advocacy                                                        | 111 |
|          | Diffusion of innovation applied to institutional repositories          | 112        |
|          | Practical advocacy strategies for content recruitment                  | 127        |
|          | Conclusion                                                             | 137        |
|          | Note                                                                   | 138        |
| 6 | Intellectual property                                           | 139 |
|          | Stakeholders and their interests                                       | 140        |
|          | Risk mitigation                                                        | 148        |
|          | Conclusion                                                             | 157        |
| 7 | Case study: The Edinburgh Research Archive                      | 159 |
|          | Introduction                                                           | 159        |
|          | Development                                                            | 161        |
|          | Deployment                                                             | 171        |
|          | Administration                                                         | 175        |

---

|                                                            |            |
|------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Management                                                 | 182        |
| Conclusion                                                 | 188        |
| Note                                                       | 189        |
| Appendix                                            | 191 |
| A Archimède                                                | 193        |
| B CDSware: CERN document server                            | 197        |
| C DSpace                                                   | 201        |
| D GNU EPrints archive software                             | 205        |
| E Fedora                                                   | 209        |
| F OPUS: Online Publications of the University of Stuttgart | 215        |
| Glossary                                            | 219 |
| Bibliography                                        | 233 |
| Index                                               | 239        |