

Chandos Series on Publishing

Never Mind the Web

Here comes the book

Miha Kovač

CHANDOS PUBLISHING

Contents

List of figures and tables	xi
About the author	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
1 Introduction	1
2 The book: this charming old lady	9
Methodology for defining the book	10
New religions, new information tools	14
The origins of the press	15
The market and information revolution	23
Notes and references	27
3 Printing and the birth of modernity	29
Changes in the production of knowledge	31
Protestantism, the Renaissance and the printing press	34
The communication circuit of the book	38
Fast is beautiful	44
The content and the platform	47
The e-bookcatcher	50
Notes and references	52
4 The European and American book markets	55
Book publishing in the United States	59
Publishing in the EU	62
Weaknesses of book industry indicators	64

	New criteria and context	72
	Notes and references	76
5	Social context of the book	81
	Reading habits research	82
	The demography of book readers	87
	Competitiveness and the book	89
	Education and book reading in the USA	107
	Book reading and other media	109
	Conclusions	116
	Notes and references	117
6	An anorexic dachshund with a long tail	119
	Controversies surrounding conglomeration theories	120
	The end of diversity indeed?	127
	Two books about the abundance of books	130
	An anorexic dachshund and digital communism	134
	The book between the market and the sacred	137
	Notes and references	151
7	The e-book is a paper tiger	155
	An e-book business model?	159
	Continuity of the information revolution	162
	Discontinuity of the information revolution	166
	Notes and references	169
	Bibliography	171
	Index	179